

NCSA joins ICT partners for 32nd commemoration of the 1994 Genocide against the Tutsi

As part of the broader ICT sector delegation, NCSA joined Rwandans and the world in the 32nd commemoration of the 1994 Genocide against the Tutsi.

The delegation first gathered at IPOSITA to honor former National Post Office employees who lost their lives during the Genocide, before visiting the Ntarama Genocide Memorial to learn about its history, pay tribute to the victims, and lay wreaths in their memory.

In a gesture of solidarity, the ICT sector also provided six cows to vulnerable survivor families in Ntarama Sector, reaffirming its commitment to the welfare of genocide survivors.

The DPO conducted week-long training for Data Protection Officers

From 16 to 19 June, the Data Protection and Privacy Office (DPO) conducted a week-long training for Data Protection Officers (DPOs) from public institutions at the National Institute of Statistics of Rwanda. The program was designed to strengthen Rwanda's capacity to enforce its Personal Data Protection and Privacy Law.

The sessions covered data subject rights, complaint handling, technical and organizational measures and data breach investigation. Through case studies and practical exercises, participants gained hands-on experience in applying these principles to real-world scenarios.

Attended by approximately 70 participants, the training underscored Rwanda's commitment to building a strong data protection culture. By equipping institutions with the right tools and knowledge, the program ensures personal data is handled responsibly, reinforcing trust in Rwanda's digital ecosystem.
